MOST WEIRD INVENTION OF THE AGE

IS TELEVISION SAYS HOOVER GREATEST SINCE TELEPHONE

Giant Stride Made By Science—It Permits Speakers To See Each Other—Works Over Either Wires or Radio Allowing An Audience To Watch Entertainers—Objects or Persons Are Shown On a Small Glass Fixed Before a Transmitter.

Television, a scientist's dream ever since the telephone was invented half a century ago, became an actuality Thursday at New York when Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover spoke over the telephone in Washington and was seen as well as heard in the Bell telephone laboratories.

Not only were Secretary Hoover and a score of others in Washington seen in New York by telephone wire but a radio program was broadcast over the laboratories' experimental station 3XX, at Whippany, New Jersey, and moving likenesses of the performers as well as the sound of their voices, were put on the air and transferred to a screen in New Jersey.

Officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company announced that Thursday's demonstration marked the results of years of research and experimentation and that study would be continued with the purpose of improving television to a higher state of efficiency.

They acknowledge that at present the seeming miracle of seeing by wire and wave length was not at a stage where it could be put to such general use as the telephone.

The necessary equipment precludes that possibility for some time to come, they said, but the feat of television itself has been accomplished and indications are that "it is likely to have a real place in the world's work of distant communication."

The images of Thursday's speakers in Washington and Whippany were thrown onto both small and large screens. On the screen designed for the telephoner's use solely, the pictures were exceedingly clear, easily recognizable as likenesses of the persons at the other end of communication.

On the large screen, about one and a half by three feet, the results were not so clear.

At times during Hoover's address the likeness on the screen was recognizable, but at others it so faded and rippled as if water were running over it, that it became nothing but a formless shadow. Again, at changing moments, only a pair of eyebrows or an ear, or a mouth, would be visible as the secretary's voice boomed from the loud speaker.

For this demonstration, no television receiving apparatus had been installed at Washington, altho this could easily have been done had such action been necessary to demonstrate that television had been placed upon a practical basis.

The first exchange, after the official greetings, passed between Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press in Washington, and Carl S. Brandenburg of the New York office of the Associated Press. The likeness of Noyes was so clear in New York that the scintillation of light on his spectacles as he moved his head in speaking could be seen plainly.

Altho the mechanism of television is naturally immensely technical in detail its basic principles may be compared to those of the telephone. As in the telephone, instruments are used which are electrically sensitive to sound, so now instruments have been devised sensitive in a like way to light.

electric cells ever built. The impressions made on these calls are translated into varying intensities of electric current and as such are carried over wire or wave length.

At the receiving end, machines have been invented which can turn the varying current back into light and shade and so reproduce the image of the scene scanned by the electric eyes."

More than 15 complete images of the scene are sent over wires or air every second, so that motion of the subject has no more of jerkiness than a moving picture.

The company announced that there is no one inventor of television, many scientists at the laboratories having cooperated in its development, but three men were mentioned as having contributed most to the research which led to the present stage. The three are Herbert E. Ives, son of Frederick E. Ives, inventor of the halftone process of reproduction; Frank Gray and H. M. Stoller.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAY ABANDON PROHIBITION

Premier Stewart to Contest
General Election Campaign on "Wet" Platform.

The possibility that there will be only one dry province in the dominion by 1928 loomed Thursday at Ottawa, Ontario. The possibility came from the passage of a motion in the New Brunswick legislature for introduction of a bill which will put that province in the list of those that have abandoned prohibition, for government control legislation.

Premier J. D. Stewart, of Prince Edward Island, also intimated that he would contest a general election campaign this year on a "wet" platform.

Inclusion of the province of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island in the wet ranks would leave only one of the nine provinces in the dominion adhering to prohibition—Nova Scotia.

SCARLET FEVER

County Health Commissioner Dr. G. W. Heffner went to Columbus Friday to make his report on the scarlet fever situation in Monroe township.

Since school opened last fall, there has been forty-four cases of scarlet fever reported, the lax measures taken by residents of the township according to the health officers report, is responsible for the spread of the contagious fever. Stern measures will have to be taken by the state board of health to eradicate the

In a number of cases the fever was not reported by attending physicians who held opposite views to that of the county health commissioner and in other cases the children were allowed to leave quarantine before the fever had been eradicated thus spreading the contagion.

COURT ORDER OR REVERSAL IS NECESSARY

For Violators Release on Sentences Imposed by Mayors or Justices.

Prisoners serving sentences imposed by mayors and justices of the peace in liquor law cases may not be discharged before expiration of their sentences unless the case is reserved or a court order is obtained, Attorney General Edward C. Turner ruled Thursday.

"The only methods I know for releasing such prisoners prior to expiration of their sentences is thru a reversal of the judgment under which they were sentenced, thru a discharge under a writ of habeas corpus or a discharge under the insolvent debtors' act or a parole under the indigent prisoners act," the attorney general said.

The opinion was written for E. A. Brown, Pickaway county prosecutor.

The U. S. supreme court in recently holding that convictions by mayors and justices are unconstitutional went only as far as "to hold the conviction voidable," the opinion says, but the Perry county appellate court recently held that justices of the peace are without jurisdiction under the Crabbe act and that such a conviction, therefore, is void.

"At the request of B. F. McDonald prohibition commissioner, the case of Emanuel Williams vs. State of Ohio (the Perry county case) will probably be taken to the supreme court for the purpose of setting definitely the questions of whether such judgments are void or merely voidable," the opinion said.

GRAFTING

FRUIT TREES

Grafting fruit trees is an old and useful art. Many fruit growers are finding it profitable to top graft trees of undesirable varieties, even after they come into bearing, to better varieties.

A successfully top-grafted tree with its original root system unimpaired, will regain normal size for its age in 4 or 5 years after grafting.

Grafts should not be made on limbs more than two inches in diameter nor on old trees. Eight or ten years is about the age limit for profitable grafting.

"Grafting," says I. P. Lewis, assistant in horticulture at the Ohio Experiment Station, "consists in taking a short piece of mature one-year growth, called the cion, of the desired variety, cutting this to a long tapering wedge and inserting this in a corresponding split in the limb or tree, called the stock, to be grafted. The inside edge of the bark, or cambium layer, of cion and stock must join and grow together."

"All exposed surfaces are carefully covered with grafting wax to keep the wood from drying out. The grafting is done as growth starts in the spring. The cions are cut while dormant and kept in cool moist sawdust or soil until tree growth starts."

"Grafting wax is made by melting together 4 parts of resin, 2 of beeswax, and 1 of tallow. The mixture is poured into cold water and worked like taffy until uniform in texture."

It pays to Advertise.

No Time

A suburbanite was rushing along the street in the direction of the railway station when a friend joined him.

"What's your hurry, Williams?" asked the friend.

"I am trying to catch the 5:40 train," replied Williams, "and I don't know whether there is any 5:40 train now or not. There has been a change."

"Haven't you a time-table in your pocket?"

"Yes, but if I stop to look at it, and that train is still on, I'll miss it by ten seconds!"

NOTICE OF SENTENCE
Must First Be Given Says U. S. Court of Appeals.
Cincinnati, April 6.—It is unlawful for a court to impose a definite prison sentence on a person without first giving notice of such intent, the U. S. court of appeals ruled today.
It ordered vacated the sentences to the Dayton workhouse imposed by District Judge Paul Jones of Cleveland, upon Ben, Max, Edward and Nate Shulman, on charges of contempt of court for failure to surrender assets amounting to $47,351 in bankruptcy proceedings against the Standard Clothing Manufacturing Co., of Cleveland. Ben Shulman had been sentenced to one year and the others to six months each.
The appellate court held that the Shulmans had been given no notice during the bankruptcy proceedings that imprisonment would be asked as a penalty for failure to comply with the "turn-over" order of the referee in bankruptcy and that imposition of the definite sentence was erroneous. The court held, however, that the Shulmans should be held in the workhouse until the "turnover" order is complied with.

Queer Dance of Birds
It is said that sailors visiting the island of Laysan, in the Hawaiian group, are greatly amused by the curious antics of the Laysan albatross, or gony. These birds sometimes perform, in pairs, a kind of dance or as the sailors call it, "cakewalk." Two albatrosses approach each other, nodding and making profound bows, cross their bills, produce snapping and groaning sounds, rise on their toes, puff out their breasts and finally part with more nodding and bowing, only to come together again and repeat the performance. Occasionally three engage at once in this singular amusement. The spectators are always impressed with the extreme "politeness" of the birds.

Dead Letters
Letters which are sent to the dead letter office in Washington are opened, and when addresses are found in them they are returned to the senders. When a check or money order is found, but still no sufficient address, the letter is returned to the post-office of its origin, and inquiry is made at the bank or money order office. Parcel post matter or other mail of value which can neither be delivered nor returned, for want of sufficient address, is sold by the Post Office department. Other undeliverable matter is finally destroyed.

Foolish Vanity
It is a vanity to persuade the world that one hath much learning by getting a great library.—Fuller.

LOANS UP TO $500

What appeared to be the impossible yesterday becomes today's fulfillment. Miracles (so-called) grow common-place in an age of rapidly-moving scientific unfoldment. A new era in the world's history dawned with the use of air for transportation purposes. Since time immemorial man had dreamed of flying, and when Orville Wright, on December 17, 1903, made his historic flight, the natural law of gravity was mocked. But even man's conquest of the air is no more appealing to the imagination than has been the flight of money, for its flies so swiftly for many folks that every dollar seems to be equipped with wings, like Mercury. It is for the special convenience of folks whose money has taken wings that The City Loan was organized and has become so well patronized. The City Loan plan will not only help you pay your debts, but it will teach you how to clip the wings of your money so you can keep it.

Wonder How She Felt?

George was bringing the one and only out to meet the family, and naturally the family was striving to please the girl, who was a prim and quiet individual. Everything went off fine—dinner, dancing and conversation.

George stepped out to get some smokes while the girl was in an adjoining room putting on her wraps, preparatory to leaving, the door to the room being slightly ajar. At this time George's brother came in and without warning, exclaimed:

"Where'd George pick up that dumb bell?"

MOST OHIO LANDS NEED LITTLE LIME*Whitewashing Wasteful and Harmful, University Specialist Says.

Chances are the annual whitewash-ing suburbanites give their lawns does more harm than good. One amateur gardener on a street limes his lawn, and before long every lawn on the block has been whitewashed.

But, says Dr. C. J. Willard, of the farm crops department at Ohio State university, "The value of lime for lawns has been greatly overestimated.
West of Columbus, there are few soils which require lime to grow good grass and even east of Columbus 50 pounds of hydrated lime (sold as "lawn lime") per 1000 square feet once in from 6 to 8 years will be sufficient for any soil type in the state."

"The annual whitewashing which many lawn receive is not only wasteful, but, by encouraging some of our weed seeds, may be harmful. Lime will not eradicate moss in the lawn."

On the other hand, Dr. Willard says a bare spot in a lawn is a pretty sure indication that something is wrong.
That wrong should be corrected before more seed is sown.

"It is the height of folly," he continues, "to expect delicate seedlings to live where established plants have died. Sowing seed on thin turf to thicken the stand is usually a waste of seed. The same money in fertilizer will give many times the results. Turf is usually thin because it is starved.
"On good soils the application, just as growth starts in the spring, of five pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia to 1000 square feet will produce a vigorous growth of grass.
These should be watered in, as sulphate of ammonia is liable to burn the grass. As a yearly top dressing in addition on poorer soils, from 10 to 15 pounds to 1000 square feet of a 3-12-4 or similar complete fertilizer will give good results. Bone meal at the rate of 10 pounds to 1000 square feet is excellent for lawns."

FOUR OHIOANS PICKED FOR NATIONAL MEET*Two Boys and Two Girls are Chosen to Attend 4-H Club Camp at Washington.

Four young Ohioans, two boys and two girls, will represent their 28,000 fellow members in 4-H farm clubs at the first national encampment of 4-H club members at Washington D. C., this coming June, the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State university announces.

Julia Mae Roser of Cridersville, Auglaize county; Isabel Nye, of Home, Ashtabult county; Carl Anthony, of Union Furnace, Hocking county; and Harold Judy of Germantown, Montgomery county, are the four. They were chosen by state club leaders on nomination of local leaders and county agents. Qualifications for nomination stipulated that they be 15 years of age, or more, have had three or more years in 4-H clubs, and have indicated strongly some ability as leaders.

At the Washington encampment June 16 to 22 will be delegates from every state in the Union. There the emphasis will be, not merely sightseeing, but on training in leadership.
Present plans also call for discussion on ways and means of reaching, thru 4-H clubs more of the eleven million rural boys and girls in the United States.

The Ohio delegates to this club encampment will have the financial backing of the Ohio Bankers' association and the Ohio Livestock Cooperative Marketing association.

Egyptians Forbidden Wheat

An authority says that the reason the Egyptians did not use wheat, and therefore no traces could be found in their mummified stomachs, etc., was because their religion prohibited its use as a food. Although they knew of the grain, instead they used maize, which they kneaded with their feet into a bread known as spelt.

AMUSEMENTS

Elinor Glyn demonstrates by the picture, "Love's Blindness" at the Met theater that she knows well the public's taste in pictures as well as in fiction. The film, by the way, was produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from Mme. Glyn's popular novel of the same name, which was widely serialized by newspapers thru the United States.

Most pictures end up with a marriage, or with a gesture that would indicate impending marriage, but "Love's Blindness" opens up with one, Pauline Starke as Vanessa Levy, the London money-lender's daughter, and Antonio Moreno, as Hubert Culverdale the Eighth Earl of St. Austel, who enters the match to save himself from bankruptcy, are the principals and the elaborate wedding scene might easily be considered one of the features of the film.

Full of Suspense
Altho even the most casual student of the drama realizes that separated lovers, or separated spouses, are invariably reconciled before the last act or the last reel, there is a certain amount of suspense that may be definitely achieved by this situation and the joint efforts of Mme. Glyn and the director, John Francis Dillon have extracted a full measure of suspense from it. Not until the final fade out is one quite positive that the mercenary mating has become a union of happy love.

The high lights of the picture are the plausible performance of Miss Starke as a girl, who, altho cultured and wealthy, would permit herself to enter an arranged marriage; the performance of Antonio Moreno as a man to whom love comes despite himself; and the restraint of the performance of Sam De Grasse as the money-lender, who would barter his daughter for social prestige.

For all who love a romance set apart from the workaday world the picture is highly recommended.

Evading State Laws

In American constitutional law an "original package" means the package in which goods are shipped from one state to another. The United States courts held that where an article is imported into one state from another it does not lose the protection of the interstate commerce clause while the original package remains unbroken and is the property of the importer. Interpretation of these decisions made it possible to evade state laws by selling direct to the customers in original packages. The importance of this is in its bearing on the sale of cigarettes and other commodities about which state laws differ.

Soap Berry Still Used

The manufacture of soap upon a very large scale dates only from 1823. The use of soap is of great antiquity. A well-equipped soap factory was found by the excavators of Pompeii. Historical records of Italy and Spain show that soap was in use in those countries in the Eighth century. The soap berry was used before soap was manufactured. Soap berry is the common name of several species of Sapindus and of the fruits which are so rich in saponin that they were employed for the same purpose as alkaline soap before the days of that article. The Chinese prefer them even yet for cleansing the hair and delicate skins.

First Perforated Stamps

NEW METHODUSED TO PREVENT SKIDDING

A new method of finishing the surface of a paved highway with stone screenings has been devised to prevent skidding. One of the first projects of this kind is a 7.8 miles highway leading out of Modesto, in Southern California.

The original pavement was widened to 20 feet by cement concrete shoulders placed on either side of the existing 15-foot base which was then surfaced with asphaltic concrete, averaging 2½ inches to 4 inches in thickness. Two-foot rock borders four inches in thickness were placed alongside the concrete shoulders.

The screenings used for top finish were such as would pass through a ¼ inch square screen with not less than 90 per cent of the total being retained on a standard No. 10 screen. The amount applied averaged from 10 to 15 pounds per square yard.

The cost for this 7.8 miles of reconstructed highway was $163,500.

This tells the whole story
Earned income is the most valuable asset a man or woman can possess. On our incomes we depend for all that makes life worth while—food, shelter, clothing, as well as luxuries. Earning power is necessary to human comfort.

When well and earning
The two squares below will represent the average man's situation as regards income and disbursements when well and earning—the income exceeding the outgo.

When sick or hurt
Illness or injury stop or reduce income, but INCREASE expense. Therefore the situation changes to the following:

PROTECTION OF HOME INDUSTRIES UPHELD

The constitutionality of the flexible provisions of the tariff law, whereby the President may raise or lower import duties 50 per cent, has been upheld by a unanimous opinion of the United States Court of Customs Appeals. The court held that delegation of such authority to the President was a valid exercise of the constitutional grant of power to Congress to regulate commerce. "But is the levying of discriminatory duties upon certain classes of imports in order to protect and encourage certain domestic industries a proper exercise of the constitutional grant of power to regulate commerce?" the opinion asked, and continued: "This raises a question which may be answered by reference to legislative enactments and judicial pronouncements extending back to the beginning of our Government." The opinion cited the preamble of the Tariff act of July 4, 1789, the first tariff measure enacted, which declared it necessary to levy duties for the "protection of manufacturers." "Following this act," the opinion said, "a legislative policy of protection for the United States began, a policy which has continued through every general tariff revision act, and in many customs administrations and other acts from that time to the present. For 130 years this legislative practice has persisted unchallenged and apparently with the approval of the people." The Manufacturer.

Division of Time in Daily Round of Life

As a rule, the hours of sleep should about balance the hours of work, and it is estimated that a man who has lived half a century has slept 6,000 and worked 6,500 hours; but as he began to sleep as soon as he was born, and did not begin to work until he had reached his teens, these figures show at least an hour a day more work than sleep. The average man of fifty will probably have spent 800 days in simply walking from place to place, or, at any rate, in using his legs, and if we allow three miles an hour, a moderate allowance, it gives a mileage of 57,000, or a little over three miles a day. Thus at fifty a man has walked twice round the world with 9,000 miles to spare. Probably, also, the average man of fifty has spent about 4,000 days in amusement, and another 1,500 in eating and drinking.

WAS THE WATCH YOU CARRY NEW...WHEN HANSOMS RULED THE STREETS?

A watch may never lose a second yet be many years slow

The owner of such a watch may never miss a train or an appointment but it is the one false note in his modern makeup, probably the only thing he has that stamps him as a bit old-fashioned, a trifle behind the times. And yet a new and modish Elgin can be had at a moderate sum. Slipped into your pocket, or strapped on your wrist, it will win and hold your affection as no other watch possibly can. For Elgin is conceded to be the world's standard for watch integrity.

THE WOMAN'S WRIST WATCH, in a case of 14-karat solid white gold, is priced at $60. THE MAN'S WATCH may be had in a 14-karat gold-filled case of white or green tone. Sells for $40. We will show these and other Elgins to you gladly. No other watch is offered in so generous an assortment of styles nor at a price range so liberal.

MOST WEIRD INVENTION OF THE AGE

IS TELEVISION SAYS HOOVER GREATEST SINCE TELEPHONE

Giant Stride Made By Science

—It Permits Speakers To See Each Other—Works Over Either Wires or Radio Allowing An Audience To Watch Entertainers—Objects or Persons Are Shown On a Small Glass Fixed Before a Transmitter.

Television, a scientist's dream ever since the telephone was invented half a century ago, became an actuality Thursday at New York when Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover spoke over the telephone in Washington and was seen as well as heard in the Bell telephone laboratories.

Not only were Secretary Hoover and a score of others in Washington seen in New York by telephone wire but a radio program was broadcast over the laboratories' experimental station 3XN, at Whippany, New Jersey, and moving likenesses of the performers as well as the sound of their voices, were put on the air and transferred to a screen in New Jersey.

Officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company announced that Thursday's demonstration marked the results of years of research and experimentation and that study would be continued with the purpose of improving television to a higher state of efficiency.

They acknowledge that at present the seeming miracle of seeing by wire and wave length was not at a stage where it could be put to such general use as the telephone.

The necessary equipment precludes that possibility for some time to come, they said, but the feat of television itself has been accomplished and indications are that "it is likely to have a real place in the world's work of distant communication."

The images of Thursday's speakers in Washington and Whippany were thrown onto both small and large screens. On the screen designed for the telephoner's use solely, the pictures were exceedingly clear, easily recognizable as likenesses of the persons at the other end of communication.

On the large screen, about one and a half by three feet, the results were not so clear.

At times during Hoover's address the likeness on the screen was recognizable, but at others it so faded and rippled as if water were running over it, that it became nothing but a formless shadow. Again, at changing moments, only a pair of eyebrows or an ear, or a mouth, would be visible as the secretary's voice boomed from the loud speaker.

For this demonstration, no television receiving apparatus had been installed at Washington, altho this could easily have been done had such action been necessary to demonstrate that television had been placed upon a practical basis.

The first exchange, after the official greetings, passed between Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press in Washington, and Carl S. Brandenburg of the New York office of the Associated Press. The likeness of Noyes was so clear in New York that the scintillation of light on his spectacles as he moved his head in speaking could be seen plainly.

Altho the mechanism of television is naturally immensely technical in detail its basic principles may be compared to those of the telephone. As in the telephone, instruments are used which are electrically sensitive to sound, so now instruments have been devised sensitive in a like way to light.

electric cells ever built. The impressions made on these calls are translated into varying intensities of electric current and as such are carried over wire or wave length.

At the receiving end, machines have been invented which can turn the varying current back into light and shade and so reproduce the image of the scene scanned by the electric eyes.

More than 15 complete images of the scene are sent over wires or air every second, so that motion of the subject has no more of jerkiness than a moving picture.

The company announced that there is no one inventor of television, many scientists at the laboratories having cooperated in its development, but three men were mentioned as having contributed most to the research which led to the present stage. The three are Herbert E. Ives, son of Frederick E. Ives, inventor of the half-tone process of reproduction; Frank Gray and H. M. Stoller.

Premier Stewart to Contest General Election Campaign on "Wet" Platform.

The possibility that there will be only one dry province in the dominion by 1928 loomed Thursday at Ottawa, Ontario. The possibility came from the passage of a motion in the New Brunswick legislature for introduction of a bill which will put that province in the list of those that have abandoned prohibition, for government control legislation.

Premier J. D. Stewart, of Prince Edward Island, also intimated that he would contest a general election campaign this year on a "wet" platform.

Inclusion of the province of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island in the wet ranks would leave only one of the nine provinces in the dominion adhering to prohibition—Nova Scotia.

SCARLET FEVER

Since school opened last fall, there has been forty-four cases of scarlet fever reported, the lax measures taken by residents of the township according to the health officers report, is responsible for the spread of the contagious fever. Stern measures will have to be taken by the state board of health to eradicate the

In a number of cases the fever was not reported by attending physicians who held opposite views to that of the county health commissioner and in other cases the children were allowed to leave quarantine before the fever had been eradicated thus spreading the contagion.

COURT ORDER OR REVERSAL IS NECESSARY

For Violators Release on Sentences Imposed by Mayors or Justices.

Prisoners serving sentences imposed by mayors and justices of the peace in liquor law cases may not be discharged before expiration of their sentences unless the case is reserved or a court order is obtained, Attorney General Edward C. Turner ruled Thursday.

"The only methods I know for releasing such prisoners prior to expiration of their sentences is thru a reversal of the judgment under which they were sentenced, thru a discharge under a writ of habeas corpus or a discharge under the insolvent debtors' act or a parole under the indigent prisoners act," the attorney general said.

The opinion was written for E. A. Brown, Pickaway county prosecutor. The U. S. supreme court in recently holding that convictions by mayors and justices are unconstitutional went only as far as "to hold the conviction voidable," the opinion says, but the Perry county appellate court recently held that justices of the peace are without jurisdiction under the Crabbe act and that such a conviction, therefore, is void.

"At the request of B. F. McDonald prohibition commissioner, the case of Emanuel Williams vs. State of Ohio (the Perry county case) will probably be taken to the supreme court for the purpose of setting definitely the questions of whether such judgments are void or merely voidable," the opinion said.

Stormy Body of Water

Euxine was the ancient name for the Black sea in southern Russia and connected with the Mediterranean sea by the Bosphorus, the sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles. Euxine, a Greek word, means inhospitable, and the sea was so-called because of its treacherous weather and sudden and severe storms.
